The plaintiff, Keith Adger Smyth (“Plaintiff”), a self-represented pretrial detainee, brings this action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. This matter is before the court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b) and Local Civil Rule 73.02(B)(2)(d) DSC. Plaintiff is a detainee at the Spartanburg County Detention Center, and files this action in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915. Having reviewed the Complaint in accordance with applicable law, the court concludes that it should be summarily dismissed.

I. Factual and Procedural Background

The Complaint alleges that Defendant Bianco: (1) discontinued Plaintiff’s medications for attention deficit hyperactivity disorder in 2011; (2) discontinued Plaintiff’s mental health medications; (3) denied Plaintiff’s requests for additional food portions; (4) denied Plaintiff’s grievances; (5) denied Plaintiff lotion for eczema; (5) denied Plaintiff blood tests; and (6) removed Plaintiff’s toenail improperly on September 6, 2013. (ECF No. 1 at 3-4.) Plaintiff seeks monetary damages and medical treatment. (Id. at 5.)

II. Discussion

A. Standard of Review

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of the pro se Complaint pursuant to the procedural provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915, 28 U.S.C. § 1915A, and the Prison Litigation Reform Act (“PLRA”), Pub. L. No. 104-134, 110 Stat. 1321 (1996). This review has been conducted in light of the following precedents: Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25 (1992); Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324-25 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Nasim v. Warden, Md. House of Corr., 64 F.3d 951 (4th Cir. 1995) (en banc); Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d 70 (4th Cir. 1983).

The Complaint has been filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915, which permits an indigent litigant to commence an action in federal court without prepaying the administrative costs of proceeding with the lawsuit. To protect against possible abuses of this privilege, the statute allows a district court to dismiss the case upon a finding that the action “fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted,” “is frivolous or malicious,” or “seeks monetary relief against a defendant who is immune from such relief.” 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B). A finding of frivolousness can be made where the complaint “lacks an arguable basis either in law or in fact.” Denton, 504 U.S. at 31. Hence, under § 1915(e)(2)(B), a claim based on a meritless legal theory may be dismissed sua sponte. Neitzke, 490 U.S. 319; Allison v. Kyle, 66 F.3d 71 (5th Cir. 1995).

This court is required to liberally construe pro se complaints. Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007). Such pro se complaints are held to a less stringent standard than those drafted by attorneys, id.; Gordon v. Leeke, 574 F.2d 1147, 1151 (4th Cir. 1978), and a federal district court is charged with liberally construing a complaint filed by a pro se litigant to allow the development of a potentially meritorious case. Hughes v. Rowe, 449 U.S. 5, 9 (1980); Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319 (1972). When a federal court is evaluating a pro se complaint, the plaintiff's allegations are assumed to be true. Erickson, 551 U.S. at 93 (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555-56 (2007)).

Nonetheless, the requirement of liberal construction does not mean that the court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts which set forth a claim cognizable in a federal district court. See Weller v. Dep't of Soc. Servs., 901 F.2d 387 (4th Cir. 1990); see also Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 677-78 (2009) (outlining pleading requirements under Rule 8 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for "all civil actions"). The mandated liberal construction afforded to pro se pleadings means that if the court can reasonably read the pleadings to state a valid claim on which the plaintiff could prevail, it should do so; however, a district court may not rewrite a complaint to include claims that were never presented, Barnett v. Hargett, 174 F.3d 1128 (10th Cir. 1999), construct the plaintiff's legal arguments for him, Small v. Endicott, 998 F.2d 411 (7th Cir. 1993), or "conjure up questions never squarely presented" to the court, Beaudett v. City of Hampton, 775 F.2d 1274, 1278 (4th Cir. 1985).

B. Analysis

The Complaint is filed pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983, which " 'is not itself a source of substantive rights,' but merely provides 'a method for vindicating federal rights elsewhere conferred.' " Albright v. Oliver, 510 U.S. 266, 271 (1994) (quoting Baker v. McCollan, 443 U.S. 137, 144 n.3 (1979)). A legal action under § 1983 allows "a party who has been deprived of a federal right under the color of state law to seek relief." City of Monterey v. Del Monte Dunes at Monterey, Ltd., 526 U.S. 687, 707 (1999). To state a claim under § 1983, a plaintiff must allege two essential elements: (1) that a right secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States was violated, and (2) that the alleged violation was committed by a person acting under the color of state law. West v. Atkins, 487 U.S. 42, 48 (1988). For the reasons discussed below, Plaintiff's claims against the defendant should be summarily dismissed.

1. Duplicate claims

This is the second civil rights action filed by Plaintiff in this court against Defendant Bianco alleging deliberate indifference to medical needs. See Smyth v. Bianco, C/A No. 0:13-2862-RBH-PJG (D.S.C. Oct. 21, 2013).¹ As in the instant Complaint, the pending § 1983 case alleges that Defendant Bianco has denied Plaintiff medication, treatment for skin problems, sufficient food portions, and blood tests for sexually transmitted diseases. Id. at ECF No. 1. The court further observes that Plaintiff's prior civil action also alleges a negligence claim for "medical treatment [and] mistreatment," which is pending before the court. Id. at 4. Because the present Complaint's allegations are being addressed in Plaintiff's pending civil action, these duplicate claims should be summarily dismissed in the interests of judicial economy and efficiency. See Aloe Creme Labs., Inc. v. Francine Co., 425 F.2d 1295, 1296 (5th Cir. 1970) ("The District Court clearly had the right to take notice of its own files and records and it had no duty to grind the same corn a second time.").

2. No right to a grievance procedure

Plaintiff further alleges that Defendant Bianco denied his grievances. (ECF No. 1 at 3.) However, a prisoner has no constitutional right to a grievance procedure. See Adams v. Rice, 40 F.3d 72, 75 (4th Cir. 1994); Daye v. Rubenstein, No. 10-6938, 2011 WL 917248, at *2 (4th Cir. Mar.

¹ A district court may take judicial notice of materials in the court's own files from prior proceedings, see United States v. Parker, 956 F.2d 169, 171 (8th Cir. 1992); Fletcher v. Bryan, 175 F.2d 716, 717 (4th Cir. 1949).

17, 2011); Ashann-Ra v. Commonwealth of Virginia, 112 F. Supp. 2d 559, 569 (W.D. Va. 2000) (“[A] prison official’s failure to comply with the state’s grievance procedure is not actionable under § 1983.”). Thus, the denial of Plaintiff’s grievances by Defendant Bianco does not state a cognizable claim under § 1983.

3. State law claims

To the extent the present Complaint raises an additional state law claim of negligence or medical malpractice against Defendant Bianco for improperly removing an ingrown toenail (ECF No. 1 at 4), such a claim is not cognizable under § 1983. See Daniels v. Williams, 474 U.S. 327, 335-36 n.3 (1986); Davidson v. Cannon, 474 U.S. 344, 347-48 (1986); Pink v. Lester, 52 F.3d 73 (4th Cir. 1995) (Daniels bars an action under § 1983 for negligent conduct). While Plaintiff could pursue a negligence claim in state court, the district court should decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over any state law causes of action raised by Plaintiff because this Complaint’s federal claims are recommended for summary dismissal. See 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c)(3); see also United Mine Workers v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726 (1996); Tigrett v. Rector and Visitors of the Univ. of Va., 290 F.3d 620, 626 (4th Cir. 2002) (affirming district court’s dismissal of state law claims when no federal claims remained in the case).

III. Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, it is recommended that the Complaint be summarily dismissed without prejudice and without issuance and service of process.
